

Shiga Yamashita Divisions

Technical Division

Shiga Yamashita's technical group consists of enthusiastic and dedicated technical personnel organized into an equipment design team employing high-end 3D CAD systems to optimize plant design, and a controls design team focused on advanced and user-friendly control systems.

Manufacturing Division

Shiga Yamashita's unique technology is employed by a manufacturing team engaged in a wide range of activities, from selection of materials to manufacture of components, and a finishing and technical team focused on assembly and adjustment of equipment for reliable operation. The finishing and technical team is also responsible to the customer for delivery and installation of equipment.

Sales Division

Supported by a comprehensive list of successes, specialist sales engineers are focused on providing the customer with the optimum equipment. Activity begins with consultations with customers asking "I wonder if it's possible to ....." questions, and culminates in presentation of equipment specifications suited to customer requirements.
